Meet Tiffany Zopf

Executive Coach | Founder, Zopf Leadership

Results

Tiffany Zopf is an ICF-certified executive coach, facilitator, speaker, and Founder of Zopf Leadership. She develops courageous leaders who transform hesitation into decisive action, building high-performing teams and profitable companies. She partners with Directors through C-suite executives in food and beverage, manufacturing and technology who are navigating transitions, building team alignment, and creating sustainable talent strategies.

Experience

Her 25+ years of corporate leadership experience span global talent management, leadership and team development and commercial operations, across startups, Fortune 500 companies, and global companies, including KERRY, US Cellular, BELO, University of Phoenix, and more.

As the former Regional Head of Talent & Succession Management for KERRY, she built and scaled a seven-figure leadership development academy across North America, serving 52 manufacturing locations and developing over 6,500 leaders. Her work focused on succession readiness for critical roles and advancing women in leadership, achieving 92%+ retention of critical talent and 37% representation of women in senior management.

Approach

Tiffany brings enterprise-scale expertise to develop courageous leaders through her proprietary Intentional Courage™ method, which addresses the Action Blockers™ that prevent confident execution. Her tailored approach integrates leadership assessments and strategic development planning to accelerate leadership effectiveness. She empowers leaders to build the capabilities needed to drive innovation, increase performance, and lead with courage.
